WELSH LANGUAGE POLICY

1. Purpose

This document sets out the Welsh Language Policy for Life Sciences Hub Wales Ltd (LSHW).

2. Scope

This Policy document covers the background to the Policy, the statutory requirements, and LSHW's mission, vision, strategy and principles to facilitate and promote the use of Welsh in the conduct of its business.

This Policy also contains an outline of the services that our stakeholders can expect to be available in Welsh.

Our Policy commitment is to ensure the best quality services in Welsh, and that services in Welsh are no less favourable than those available in English.

The Policy also outlines areas of responsibility, relevant related policies and procedures, monitoring and reporting procedures, and operational matters that support this Policy.

3. Introduction

LSHW recognises that the Welsh language has official status in Wales and should be treated no less favourably than the English language.¹ People in Wales should be able to live their lives through the medium of Welsh.²

We embrace the fact that Welsh speakers have rights to use Welsh, and we are committed to play our part as a leading public body in Wales to facilitate and encourage the use of Welsh.

LSHW provides its services in Welsh, and we promote and support the use of the Welsh language in all our work and actively encourage all Welsh speakers to engage with us in their preferred language.

² Welsh Government (2012) A Living Language: A Language for Living, Crown Copyright.

We are an organisation that supports and encourages accessibility to our services, and this includes providing a consistent and high-quality service to our Welsh-speaking partners and stakeholders in their language of choice.

Our corporate image and branding is bilingual and we will promote Wales, and specifically the Life Sciences, internationally. We will continue to champion the life sciences in Wales and programme work in the language of choice of our partners.

We see this policy as forming part of a progressive and forward-looking commitment within the Life Sciences community to facilitate and promote the use of Welsh in a bilingual Wales.

This Policy seeks to:

- Celebrate the bilingual nature of Wales;
- Outline the statutory context and requirements and ensure that LSHW complies with these requirements and aims for best practice;
- Facilitate and promote the use of Welsh in Wales;
- Provide principles within which we operate to ensure that LSHW offers a quality service in Welsh;
- Raise our profile and corporate reputation and be recognised by Welsh speakers and non-Welsh speakers alike (including internationally) as a good example of a public organisation in Wales;
- Ensure accessibility and wider access and strengthen our appeal both within and outside Wales; and
- Strengthen our ability to meet the requirements of our partners and work closely with Welsh Government and the Welsh Language Commissioner.

4. Welsh Language Statutory and National Policy Context

The Welsh Language (Wales) Measure 2011:

- Gives the Welsh language official status in Wales;
- Establishes the principle that the Welsh language should be treated no less favourably than the English language; and
- Makes provision for promoting and facilitating the use of the Welsh language, and developing standards relating to the Welsh language.

The Welsh Language Service Standards placed on Welsh Ministers in their Compliance Notice are applicable to LSHW. The appropriate section can be found within the Compliance Notice on the Welsh Language Commissioner's website at:

Compliance Notice – Section 44 Welsh Language \(Wales\) Measure 2011

Please see Annex A for a list of the Service Standards with which the LSHW are required to comply.

In addition to the statutory requirements, LSHW embraces the Welsh Government's national strategy for the Welsh language. It states the vision of a bilingual Wales, where the Welsh language is a vibrant and living language. LSHW will play its part, as an eminent public body in Wales, in promoting and supporting the use of Welsh and providing opportunities for people to use Welsh in everyday life, as partners, visitors and employees.

5. LSHW Policy Statement and Underlying Principles

LSHW respects the Welsh language and the language choice of its partners. This section outlines LSHW's Welsh Language Policy Statement, and the underlying key principles which shape and inform how we conduct our work:

LSHW has adopted the principle that, in the conduct of its business in Wales, it will treat the Welsh language no less favourably than English so as is both appropriate in the circumstances and reasonably practical.

- LSHW acknowledges that the Welsh Language has official status under the Welsh Language (Wales) Measure 2011;
- Welsh speakers have rights to use the Welsh language, and we are committed to facilitate and promote the use of Welsh;
- LSHW is committed to providing quality services in Welsh, and these should be treated no less favourably than the English language;
- LSHW is committed to providing opportunities that encourage and facilitate the use of Welsh;
- LSHW aims to proactively offer services in the preferred language of the customer, including members, partners and the public;
- LSHW requires every contractor or third party that delivers services on its behalf to comply with this Policy;
- We have a duty, as a public body in Wales and sponsored by Welsh Government, to comply with the Service Standards in the Compliance

Notice placed on Welsh Ministers by the Welsh Language Commissioner;

- Wales is a bilingual country and the Welsh language is a central part of its rich culture and heritage. Embracing and promoting the linguistic character of Wales is very much part of the package and USP celebrated in our ambassadorial role in promoting Wales to the world; and
- The Welsh language is a living language in Wales, and we acknowledge that 20% of the population speaks Welsh and that some of our partners and employees wish to use Welsh within LSHW.

6. Services

LHSW provides a wide range of high-quality services in Welsh. The following is an outline of the services a person external to the organisation can expect:

- All Welsh services are offered with equal quality to those provided in English in terms of content, format, timing, outcomes etc;
- Persons will not be disadvantaged in any way by using Welsh in their dealings with LSHW;
- LSHW welcomes and encourages the use of Welsh, and therefore all stakeholders should be reassured to engage with LSHW in Welsh. All Welsh communications and language preferences will be treated no less favourably than English; and
- LSHW will maintain a language preference database and refer to this when assessing the language in which to deliver services to partners.

6.1 Correspondence

When LSHW receives a letter in Welsh, the reply will also be in Welsh and will not take any longer than an English reply would take.

When initiating correspondence, LSHW will issue a Welsh and English letter unless the language preference is already known. For standard correspondence sent to many recipients and for wider circulation, LSHW will issue the letter in Welsh and English. Persons can also receive correspondence in Welsh and English if this is their preference.

Attachments and supporting documents enclosed with correspondence will usually be issued in the language of the correspondence; however, this needs to be read in conjunction with the documents section of the Compliance Notice (e.g. 40).

All correspondence templates and materials will comply with the requirements; correspondence such as email auto signatures, letter-headed paper and out-of-office messages will be in both Welsh and English, and all will contain a message encouraging the use of Welsh.

6.2 Telephone

When a telephone call is received to the main telephone line or any direct telephone line, the caller will receive a bilingual greeting. Callers wishing to receive a Welsh service will be transferred to a Welsh speaker able to take the call in Welsh. If a Welsh speaker is not immediately available, the employee will explain to the caller when a Welsh service will be available (as per Standard 17 of the Compliance Notice).

When LSHW initiates a phone call, employees will refer to the language preference database before calling to see if a language preference is recorded. If the language preference is not known in advance, LSHW will ascertain the language preference when initiating the first call.

All answer machine and automated recordings will be in Welsh and English.

6.3 Meetings

What is a meeting under the Welsh Language Standards?

- Often smaller, more private, or internal.
- While Welsh speakers still have the right to use Welsh in meetings, the logistics may not require as much bilingual material unless the meeting is public or has a significant number of participants.
- Written documents for internal meetings may still need to be bilingual, depending on the participants' language preferences.

When inviting one person to attend a meeting, LSHW will ascertain the preferred language of the attendee in advance. When a meeting conducted in Welsh is preferred, LSHW will facilitate this by either staffing the meeting in Welsh or arranging simultaneous translation from Welsh to English.

For meetings outside Wales, the Welsh language preference is not applicable. However, LSHW recognises and will use Welsh internationally when opportunities arise.

For regular meetings at LSHW, e.g. Board meetings and Audit Committee, the language preference of the members will be determined annually and when new members and terms of reference are reviewed.

6.4 Events

What is an event under the Welsh Language Standards?

- Public-facing and often larger in scale (e.g., conferences, seminars, award ceremonies).
- More extensive bilingual requirements apply due to the broader audience.
- Must accommodate simultaneous Welsh-English translation for larger gatherings where non-Welsh speakers are present.
- All marketing, signage, and public announcements must be bilingual.

When planning and communicating about events, we need to ensure all materials, invitations, publicity, and event services are available in both languages. The aim is to provide Welsh speakers with the same access to information and participation opportunities as English speakers. Placing Welsh first in bilingual communications highlights its equal status with English and promotes its use. It is a best practice that supports bilingualism in Wales, showing commitment to the Welsh language, even if not legally required.

Key principles for events planning and communication:

Bilingual Invitations and Publicity:

- All invitations, promotional materials, and announcements must be available in both Welsh and English.
- Both languages should be displayed with equal prominence, and they must be released simultaneously or Welsh first.

Bilingual Event Materials:

- All written materials provided during the event (e.g., agendas, name badges, presentations, and handouts) must be available in Welsh and English.
- Visual displays or signs at the venue must also be bilingual.

Welsh Language Provision During the Event:

- Attendees should be able to use Welsh during the event. This can include offering translation services for speeches or discussions. This is why we need ask language preference in advance.
- If an event includes speeches, it is ideal to have a Welsh-speaking presenter, or to provide simultaneous interpretation. This is why we need ask language preference in advance.

Bilingual Communication Before, During, and After the Event:

- Emails, notifications, and follow-up communications must be bilingual.
- Social media posts related to the event should be available in both Welsh and English.

Welsh Speakers' Active Offer:

- The organisation must actively offer Welsh as a language of communication during event registration and provide Welsh language services where requested.
- If 10% or more people request Welsh communication, we must provide live translation.
- (Note: The percentage may vary depending on organisational policies or specific Welsh Language Standards, so it is best to confirm this with your organisation's guidelines or the Welsh Language Commissioner's office.)

Equal Access:

- If registration or bookings are made through a website, the site must provide Welsh language functionality.

6.5 Marketing and Communications

The corporate identity and branding of LSHW will be in Welsh and English. All logos displayed will comply with the standards. All business cards and marketing materials issued will be in Welsh and English.

The use of Welsh will be considered from the outset, as marketing and publicity campaigns are developed, to ensure that any branding, strap lines and core messages work well in Welsh.

We will ensure that suitably qualified Welsh-speaking employees will attend shows, exhibitions, and similar events whenever appropriate, reasonable and proportionate. (There are clauses in the Compliance Notice regarding work outside Wales.).

All information and materials displayed publicly will be in Welsh and English. Welsh will be treated no less favourably than English, e.g. format, size, quality and correctness. The Welsh language will be displayed so that it is read first.

Any advertisements placed in English language newspapers (or similar material) distributed mainly or wholly in Wales will be bilingual or will appear as separate Welsh and English versions (with both versions appearing simultaneously and being equal with regard to size, prominence and quality).

In Welsh language publications, advertisements will be in Welsh only. Television, cinema, internet and radio advertising will be conducted in Welsh and English. Television campaigns which appear on S4C will be in Welsh. Radio campaigns broadcast on commercial radio stations will be in Welsh and English, and in Welsh during Welsh language programmes. Using Welsh language subtitles, or dubbing adverts into Welsh, will be avoided (excepting voiceovers).

6.6 Written Materials

All written materials for use by the public, as listed in the Compliance Notice (Standard 40-) will be in Welsh. For LSHW, these include materials such as the Annual Report and Accounts, invitations for meetings and events, certificates, marketing materials, research briefs, surveys and press releases.

All press releases will be issued bilingually to outlets that have a Welsh-outlet. If it's an English-only outlet, then they will only receive the English version.

Every effort will be made to produce materials bilingually i.e. in Welsh and English in one version and in accordance with best practice guidance on bilingual design. Where versions have to be published separately, both versions will be equal regarding size, prominence and quality. Both versions will be available simultaneously and will be equally accessible, and the English version will state that a Welsh version is available.

6.7 Website, Social Media and Digital Media

The Welsh content will be no less favourable than the English content on the LSHW website. The text on each page of the website will be in Welsh, and every Welsh language page will be fully functional. A Welsh button is available on each of the English pages of the website to denote that a Welsh site is available and page level navigation is available for ease of use. All social media sites are available in Welsh e.g. Facebook, LinkedIn and X.

All material created by LSHW for the website and social media will be produced bilingually. LSHW will actively encourage the use of Welsh by partners and contributors to ensure the parity of experience in both languages.

A language choice will be offered at the beginning of digital materials that LSHW produces, such as apps, online content and DVDs.

6.8 Signage

When displaying signage (whether temporary or permanent) in LSHW office space and at events arranged by LSHW, the signage will be in Welsh and English, and displayed to read in Welsh first. Signage must not treat the Welsh language less favourably than English e.g. in terms of prominence, clarity, size and font and must be accurate.

Reception will display a sign stating that Welsh language services are available. Employees with the relevant level of Welsh language skills, and able to provide services in Welsh, will wear the Welsh badge to display that services are available in Welsh.

LSHWs commitments are limited to activities in Wales.

7. Action Plan

LSHW is committed to delivering the best quality services in Welsh and to complying with the Welsh Language Standards (Service Standards). This Policy sets out LSHW's commitment and principles and therefore it is a visionary document and a statement of ambition.

There is a comprehensive Action Plan in place to support the Hub to realise its ambition. The action plan is being implemented across the Hub in order to improve performance, and to enable LSHW to be the organisation it aspires to be in terms of the Welsh language.

8. Operation

In addition to the Action Plan discussed above, there are key operational matters that will support the implementation of the Welsh Language Policy.

Support, guidance and training for employees will be provided on Welsh language matters.

8.1 Training and Guidance

Training will be provided for all new employees to ensure they are informed about the legal requirements and are aware of the Welsh Language Policy.

All employees will be trained in Policy and legal requirements and additional guidance notes will be available to support key topics (e.g. out of office, language preference, greeting on the telephone, conducting meetings).

Language training will also be available for employees during office hours, the cost for which will be incurred by LSHW. Provision will be determined in accordance with LSHW's Welsh Language Skills Strategy.

8.2 Resources

LSHW will provide suitable resources to support employees working in Welsh, including information technology facilities, central services and human resources:

8.2.1 Information Technology

- In order to help employees, work through the medium of Welsh, online dictionaries such as <https://geiriadur.uwtsd.ac.uk/> are readily available and Cysill spellchecker will be made available, in addition to the Microsoft applications in Welsh (e.g. Word, Outlook, etc);
- When planning or redeveloping websites or any other Information Technology service, LSHW will consider the Welsh Language Commissioner's guidelines: Technology, Websites and Software: Welsh Language Considerations; and

8.2.2 Human Resources

- An audit of the Welsh Language skills of current employees will be periodically undertaken to establish a baseline from which to set a Bilingual Skills Strategy;
- Processes will be developed to ascertain which posts require Welsh language skills and these assessments will be implemented appropriately for recruitment and training purposes;
- When new posts are created or posts become vacant and are advertised, they will be reviewed to establish whether there is a business need for the post to have Welsh language skills. LSHW will refer to the Language Commissioner's Guidance on such assessments and recruitment; and
- LSHW will continue to endeavour to recruit sufficient numbers of employees who are competent in Welsh, especially for those areas where regular contact with members of the public can be expected.

8.2.3 Translation

- LSHW contracts written translation services on a needs based approach in line with LSHW's Procurement Policy, Interim Framework Agreement and Public Contract Regulations 2015; and
- LSHW aims to procure a service for simultaneous translation when there is a need to do so (e.g. online and face to face conferences).

9. Responsibilities

All employees have a responsibility to ensure that they are fully aware of the Welsh Language Policy and the legal requirements applicable to LSHW and their roles.

All managers responsible for new employees and conducting inductions must ensure that they inform employees of their duties pertinent to this policy and the Standards.

All departmental heads and line managers are responsible for ensuring that this policy is implemented effectively within their area(s) of responsibility.

Policy and strategy will ensure that the needs of Welsh speakers are considered in all aspects of policy decisions. All new processes and policies will be subject to the Welsh Language Impact Assessment and will therefore need to take account of Welsh Language requirements.

Overall responsibility for corporate compliance with the legal requirements lies with the Chief Executive Officer. For day-to-day operation, the Head of Governance, Risk and Compliance is responsible.

10. Monitoring, Reporting, Evaluation and Learning

- A clear plan is in place for implementing the Policy.
- The Policy and action plan will be monitored regularly and assurance reports regularly provided to the Board on progress and compliance.
- An annual report will be prepared on implementation and presented to the Board.
- Data will be collected throughout the year to monitor ongoing progress and to feed into continuous quality improvement and corporate learning. Such data collection will include the number of complaints received and investigated, the number and percentage of posts advertised with Welsh language skills requirements, the number and percentage of employees with Welsh language skills, the percentage of press releases released simultaneously in Welsh and English, and the percentage of members completing Welsh language forms and recording Welsh language preference on the database.

- All monitoring and reporting will inform continuous improvement and the improvement of services provided to persons by the Hub.

11. Complaints

LSHW has a Welsh Language Complaints Policy. Its complaints procedure is committed to dealing with complaints positively and swiftly in order to resolve any issues and improve services overall.

All complaints are reported to the LSHW Board and those applicable to the Standards will be reported to Welsh Government. Action will be taken in line with LSHW's Complaints Policy.

12. Policy Procedures

12.1 Contact Details

All enquiries regarding this Policy should be sent to hello@lshubwales.com in the first instance.

12.2 Review of Policy

This Policy and its implementation will be reviewed at Board level on an annual basis and improvements made as appropriate.

12.3 Complaints and Suggestions for Improvement

LSHW welcomes suggestions from the public and employees for improving its Welsh Language Policy and Welsh language service and these will be considered fully and in the spirit of wishing to continuously improve.

Complaints related to this Policy or suggestions for improvement should be directed to: Head of Governance, Risk and Compliance / Chief Executive Officer.
